NOMINATION GUIDELINES

AGC OF CONNECTICUT

CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY RECOGNITION AWARDS & DINNER

All nominations must be received by Friday, August 20, 2010

In business as in life, skill, integrity and responsibility are the qualities that make the difference. Who comes to mind from Connecticut's commercial construction industry that exemplifies the following traits?

An individual who: demonstrates professionalism, leadership and successful business practices for both the company and customer; completes projects on time while meeting financial targets; and displays working practices that reflect skill, integrity and responsibility.

JUDGING CRITERIA:

1. A high level of leadership
2. A willingness to learn
3. A desire to excel
4. An understanding of construction principles and theory
5. A high skill level, developed through education and job experience
6. The experience, discipline and focus to bring thoughtfulness and skill together successfully in various types of construction projects.
7. An adherence to fair and responsible business practices.

NOMINATION RULES:

1. All nominations must be received by Friday, August 20, 2010
2. All award nominees will be announced prior to the event
3. You may not nominate your own firm.
4. You may nominate one individual for each award category
5. You may nominate an employee in the Supervisor of the Year category
6. Nominees do not have to be members of the AGC in order to qualify, however some preference may be given to a nominee representing an AGC Member firm.
7. In 100 words or less for each nominee - describe why you believe your nominee(s) deserves the award.
8. Each nominee will be informed of their nomination and interviewed by a four-member judge's panel that will follow an established set of questions.
9. Each nominee will be apprised of the criteria and be asked to give three personal references, which in turn will be contacted for their comments regarding the nominee.
10. Educator of the Year nominee must be from a post-secondary educational institute.
