A SAFETY ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSION

Fire Prevention and Rescue in Construction

Presented by Jim Carroll, Program Manager, Connecticut Fire Academy

This roundtable will focus on some of the latest trends and issues on preventing fires and fire rescue on construction sites. OSHA regulations require contractors to be responsible for the development of a fire protection program to be followed throughout all phases of construction and demolition. Clearly, recognition of fire hazards on the site and the ability to deal with them is a critical part of keeping a safe construction site. This presentation will provide important information on the subject from the perspective of Connecticut fire safety professionals.
