

CCIA'S SAFETY RECOGNITION PROGRAM

CCIA'S Safety Management Subcommittee developed the Safety Recognition Program (SRP) primarily for two reasons. The first is to recognize those member companies with a solid construction safety and health program. The second intent is to have the recognition criteria serve as guidelines to either help start or improve a company's construction safety and health program.

CCIA's SRP follows OSHA's safety and health guidelines that require the safety and health program to include:

- ✓ MANAGEMENT INVOLVEMENT
- ✓ EMPLOYEE TRAINING
- ✓ SAFETY HAZARD ANALYSIS, AND
- ✓ CORRECTION OF VIOLATIONS AND NONCOMPLIANCE

To this end, 17 criteria categories (A-Q) have been established, with a graduated point system that allows a company to evaluate its own safety and health program. CCIA's SRP is not designed to have member companies compete against one another, meaning companies are not comparing their individual program against a competitor's program.

THE SUBMISSION DEADLINE IS SEPTEMBER 26, 2008

The Awards will be given out at:

CCIA's Annual Membership Meeting

The Hartford Club

Wednesday, December 3, 2008.

SAFETY RECOGNITION PROGRAM APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Each of the 17 criteria categories has three or four columns to characterize a company's construction safety and health program. Select only the column that accurately describes your company's safety and health program for that particular category. Your safety and health program must have all of the criteria listed in a particular column to qualify for the points. Note the number of points for each category under "point subtotal."

In some instances the criteria may not apply to your company. If that is the case, please indicate that it does not apply and explain briefly why.

After completing Category Q - Recordkeeping, please total the number of points for a final point count.

Remember to complete the first page, which is the application. This page has to be signed and dated by the person completing the SRP criteria review and the company CEO.

Return Completed Application to:

Connecticut Construction Industries Association
912 Silas Deane Highway
Wethersfield, CT 06109-3433